

Erasmus Budapest Sept. 2015 – Juli 2016

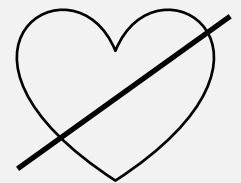

A typical „digital nomad“...

Working from everywhere

High level of education is single!

Until the end of 2019 2.2 Million people are worldwide working in over 22.000 co-working space

* Deskmag research (23.05.2019)

In the future:
Do we still need
office buildings?!

YES

NO

Communication is the key for knowledge transfer!

Accounting department, 1920
People worked from open-plan offices

Frank Lloyd Wright's open-plan office (1936-39),
„Johnson Wax building“ / Wisconsin USA

The office of the future has....

...a lot of different working environments...

....many communication platforms...

...but „deep work zones“ as well!

YOU have the choice!

Distribution of collaborative and concentrated work

*Fraunhofer IAO (2018)

Focus box

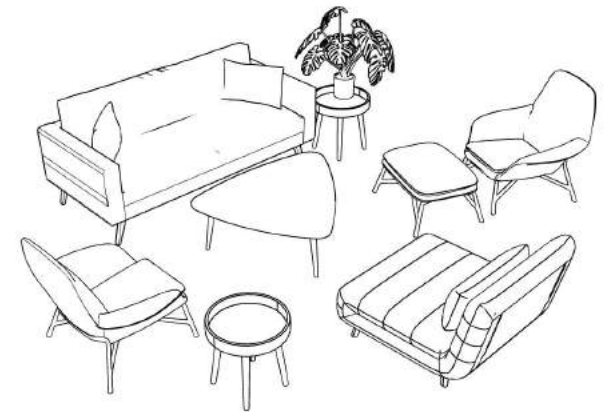

Concentration

Communication

Recreation

Inspiration

Lounge

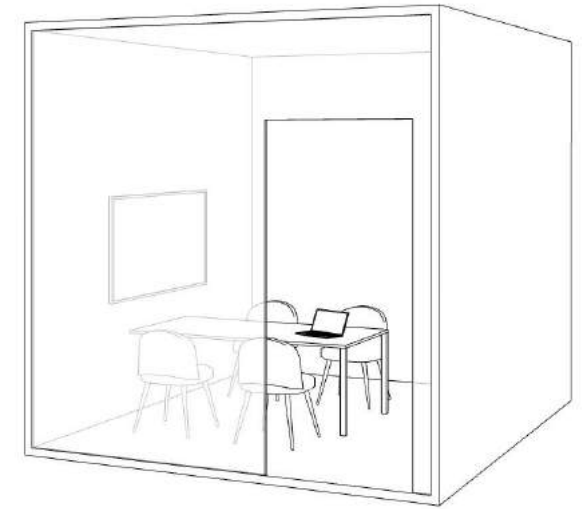

Concentration

Communication

Recreation

Inspiration

Think Tank

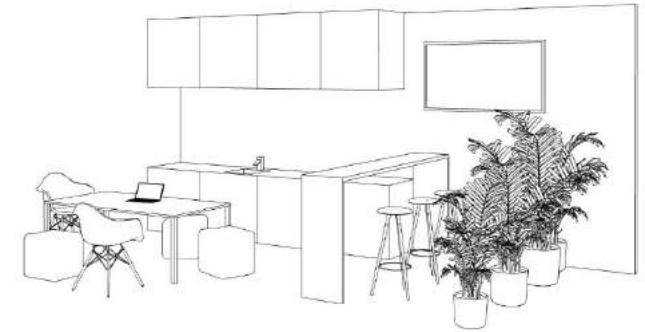

Concentration

Communication

Recreation

Inspiration

Coffee corner

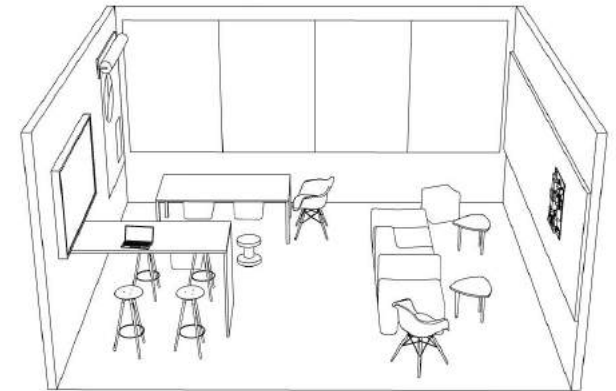

Concentration

Communication

Recreation

Inspiration

Project room

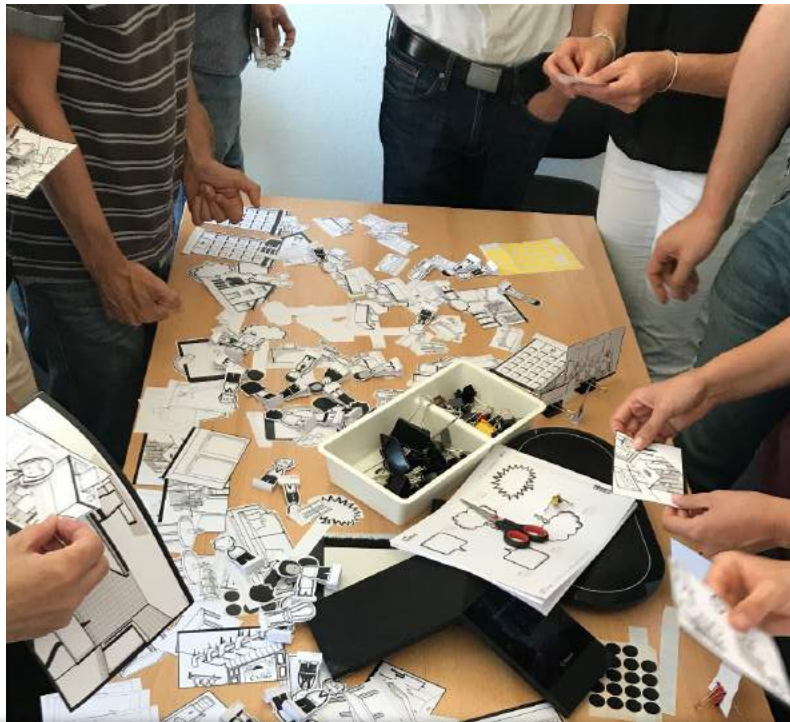

Concentration

Communication

Recreation

Inspiration

Which working environment is the right one for
my company?

Main topics:

What kind of working activities do you have?

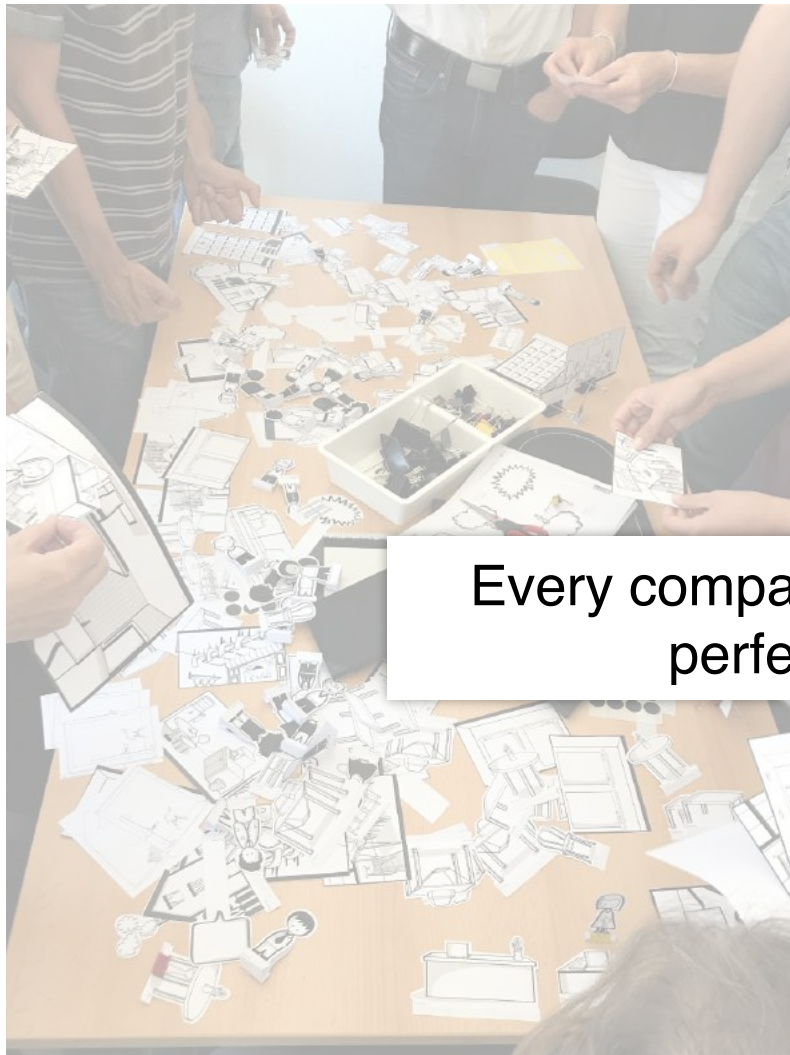

How much time do you spend in the office?

What can be improved?

...

Creative workshop, Tübingen (July, 2019)

Every company needs their own recipe for a perfect working environment!

Sharing concept

A big chance for a dynamic environment

Office landscapes must be designed in a variety of ways in order to be able to meet all the current requirements of different working methods.

Project house, AOK, Ludwigsburg, Germany (2017)

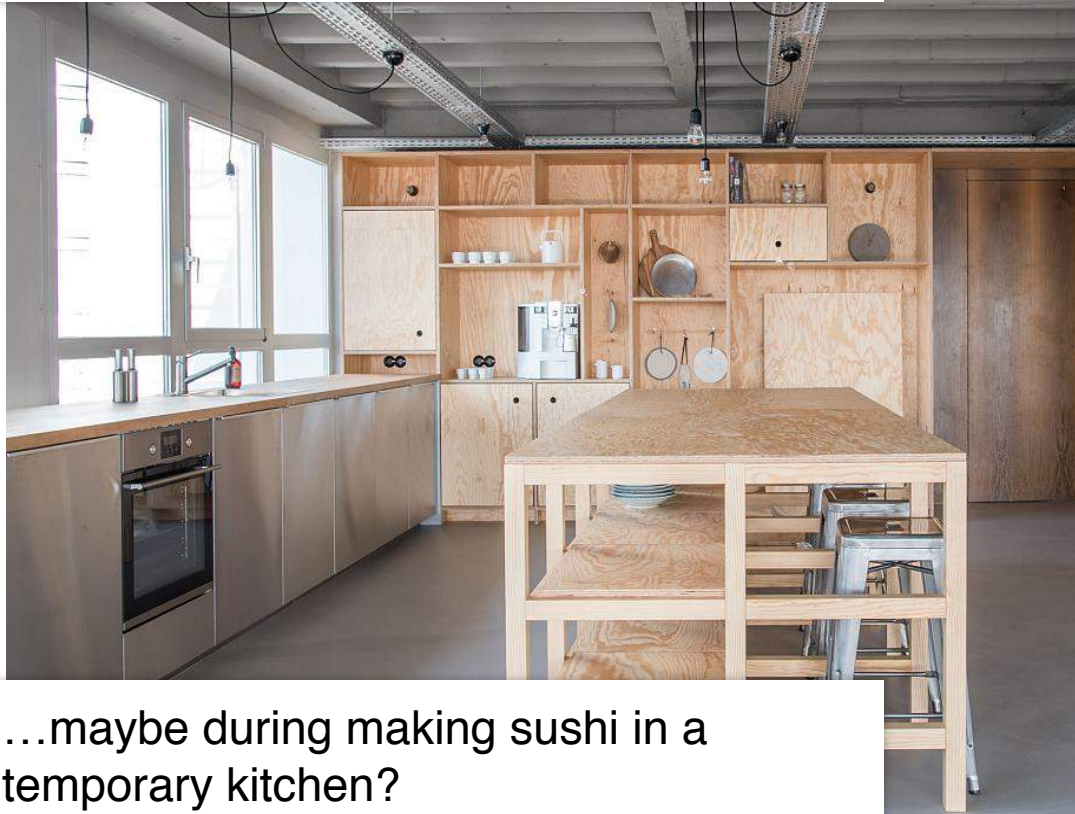

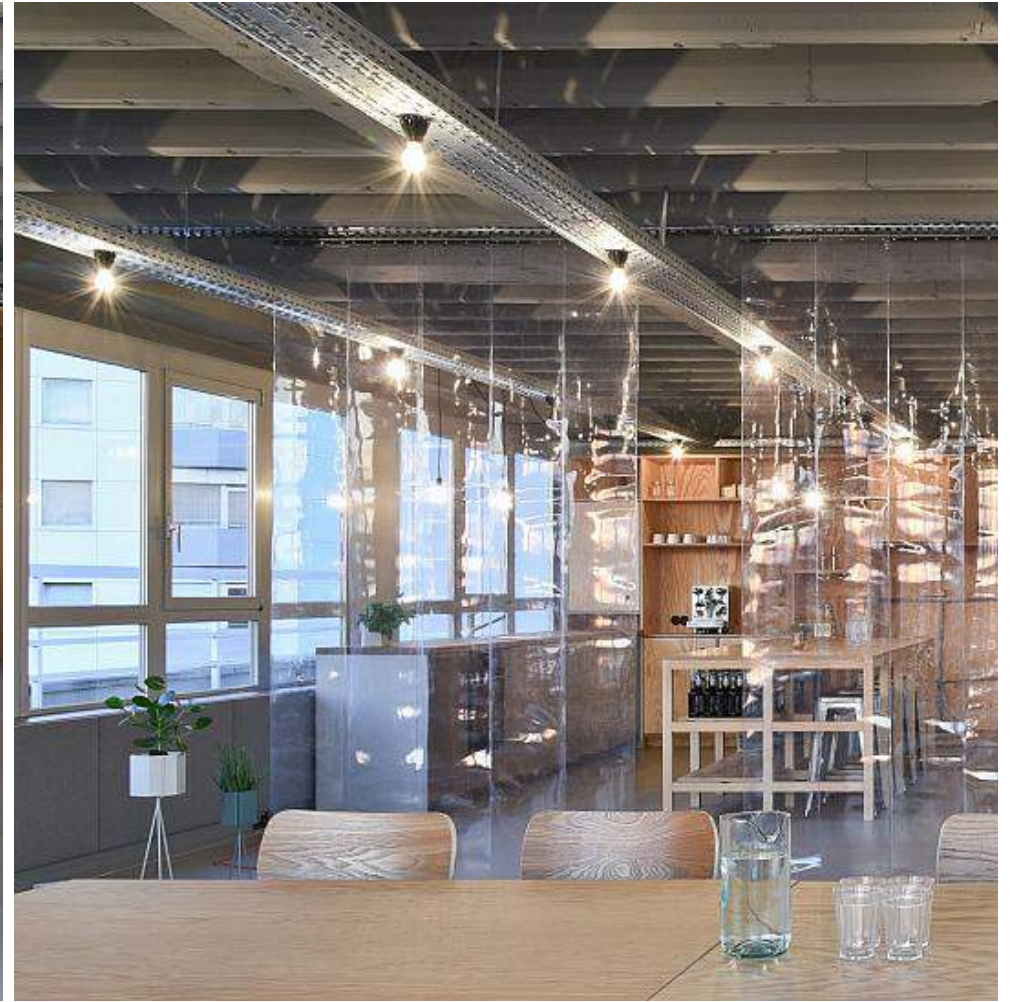

What will
the future
bring?

Where do you get the best ideas?

...maybe during making sushi in a temporary kitchen?

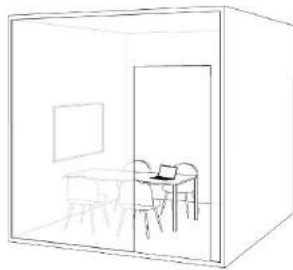

1

Massolit book store = Lounge

2

Konyha = Meeting space

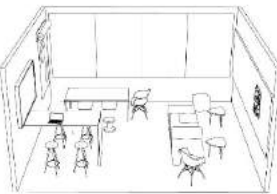

3

University = focus room

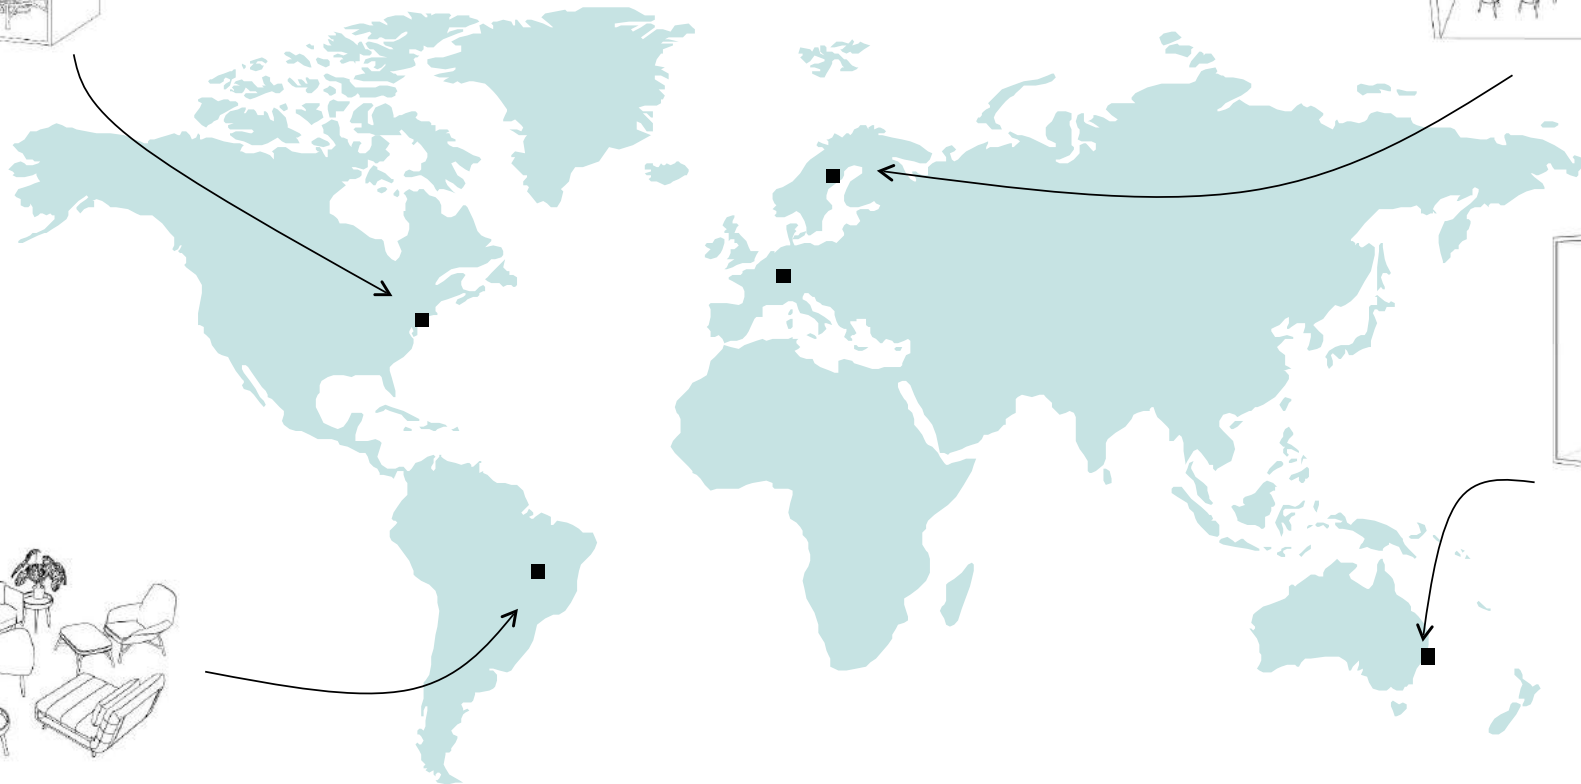

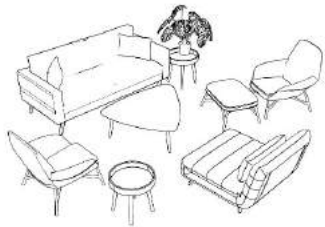

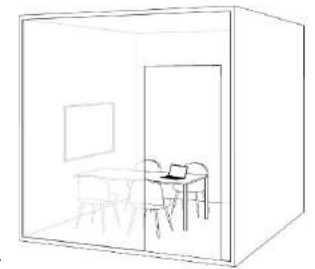

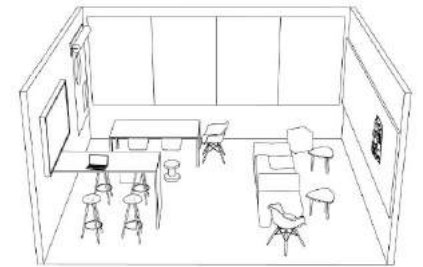

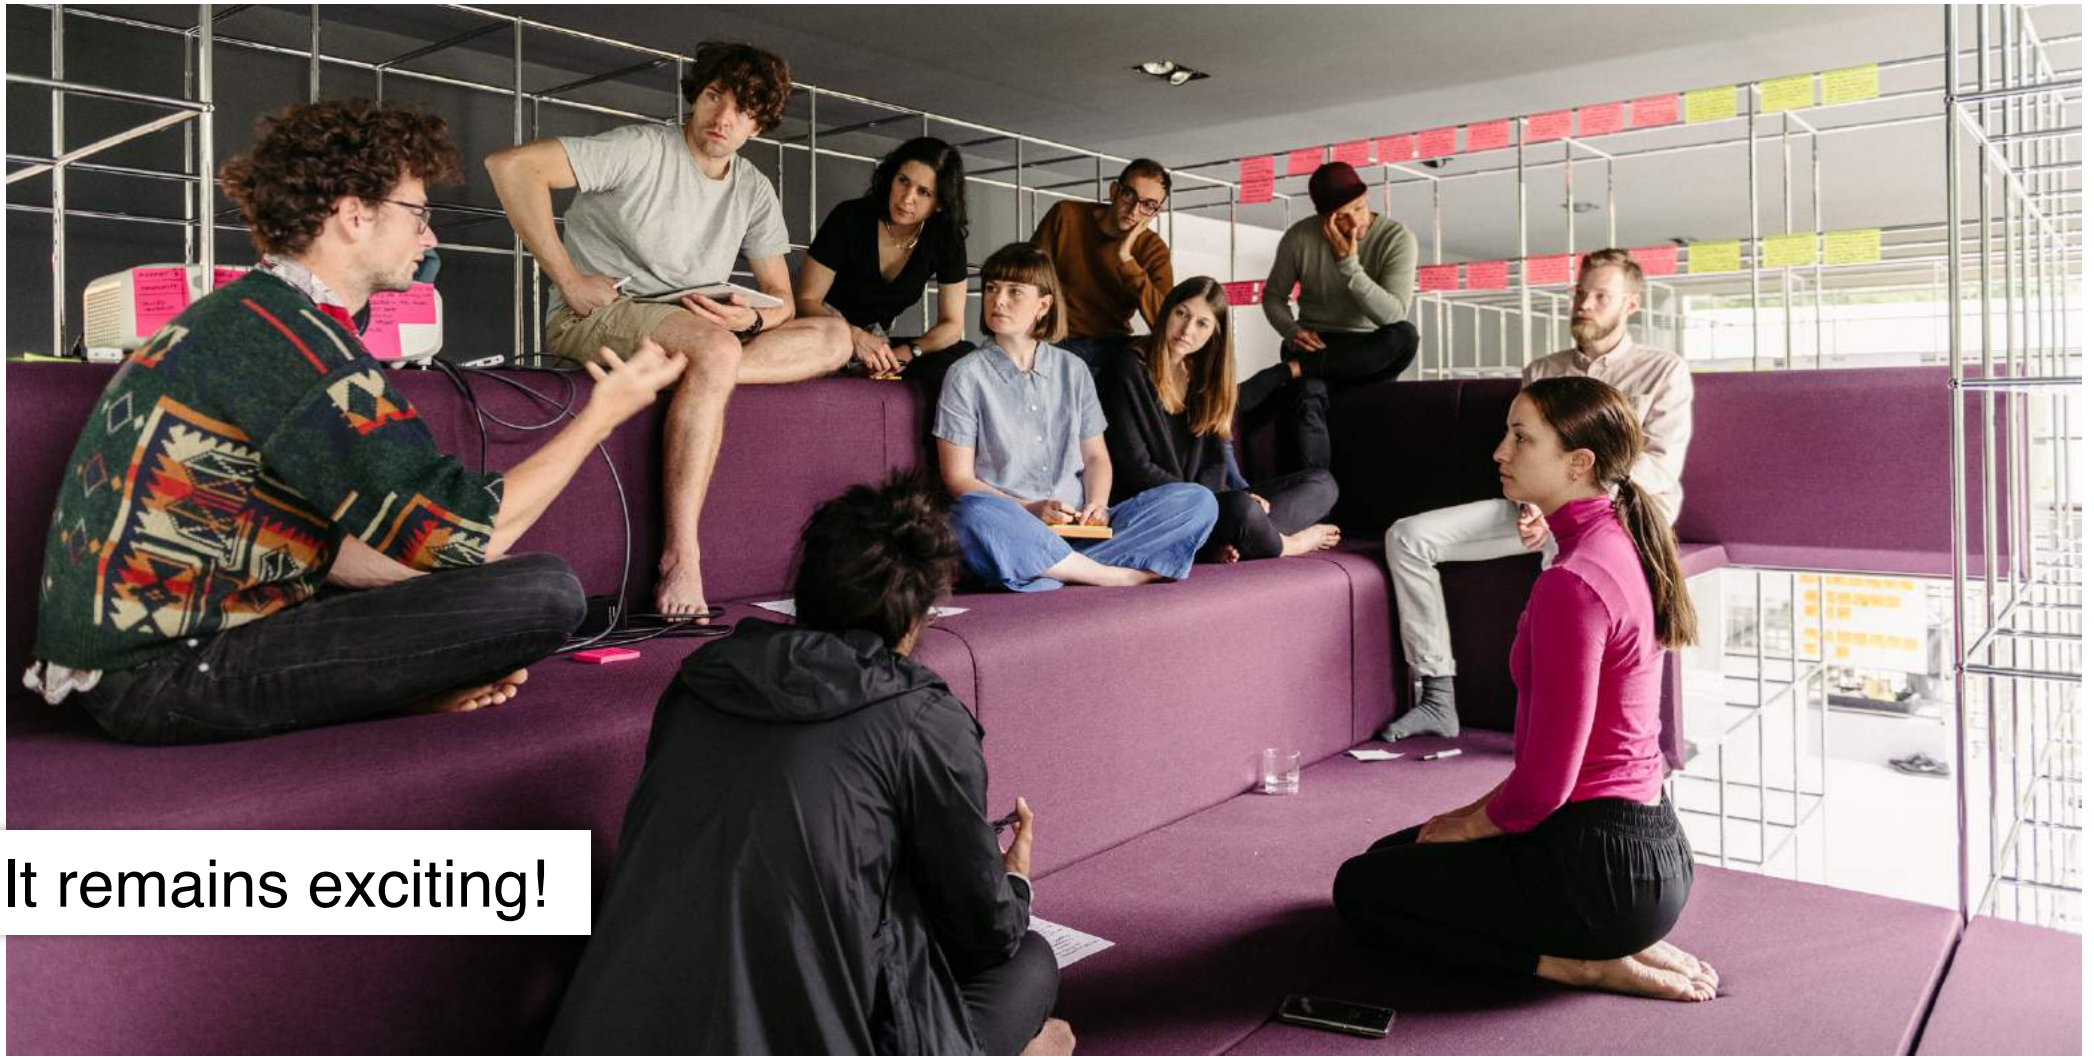

4

Pop up store = project room

Is the world the new office?

It remains exciting!

Get in touch!

katharina.dienes@fraunhofer.de